Epistemology Quiz!

What's your epistemology?

Ever wondered how well you might get along with Francis Bacon if you were having dinner together? Ever thought, "Wow, Jane Addams was AMAZING; I'd like to help people like that"? Take this quiz to figure out how you approach doing research and learn cool new fancy-schmancy terminology to use at your next academic dinner party.

START

What did you think? What do the results mean when you think about finding information and writing papers?
Cluster Research Guide: http://guides.library.ucla.edu/GECluster73
DSM = Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders

- Used for diagnosis NOT treatment
- DSM-5 - most current edition (May 2013)
- You have access to all editions (link in research guide)
Activity 1 – Explore the Disorder

Go to Research Guide → Mental Illness Research → Paper Prompt → Click Disorder

AND

Go to Research Guide → Mental Illness Research → DSM-5 → Click DSM-5 → Click on Section II and find disorder

Download Worksheet from Research Guide

Fill in the DSM-5 disorder on your worksheet
Beware of search bar!

1. Search for Internet Use Disorder in search bar
2. What do you find? Does this exist?
3. Click DSM-5, go to Appendix, and search alphabetically
Analyze popular articles

Sometimes popular articles refer to DSM, but they can be inaccurate. Always check the source!
PubMed

• Scholarly discovery service from National Library of Medicine with over 22 million citations from the MEDLINE database, life science journals, and books
• Uses controlled vocabulary to categorize the idea of a journal article
• For example...
Hashtagging → Controlled Vocabulary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

MeSH = Medical Subject Headings = PubMed’s Controlled Vocabulary

• DSM-5 disorder names ≠ MeSH (sometimes)
• Examples:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DSM-5</th>
<th>MeSH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Insomnia Disorder</td>
<td>Sleep Initiation and Maintenance Disorders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alcohol Use Disorder</td>
<td>Alcoholism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schizophrenia</td>
<td>Schizophrenia (and others)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Activity 2 – Explore and Search MeSH

• Follow Activity 2 instructions on Worksheet

All done?
• Extra: after you have finished the worksheet, click on subheadings within MeSH to narrow your search

• Extra extra: check out the Library Catalog and Counseling and Psychological Narratives Database (on Research Guide)
